On behalf of the board of AFAANZ, we'd like to take this opportunity to welcome the new Australian President, Associate Professor Andrew Jackson.

2021 - 2022 Research Grants Round 2

The AFAANZ Research Fund (ARF) Annual Grants Program is designed to encourage and support members by providing funding for research projects. The 2021 Round 2 will focus on quality projects that address or respond to contemporary and future challenges to, and/or have implications for, accounting and finance practice, policy and/or the professions. Grants are competitive, and are primarily intended to support small-scale projects of up to one year’s duration or to assist in seed funding for larger scale projects.

Applicants must demonstrate their ability to conduct the proposed research and show how the project will benefit the research profile of the individuals and the discipline.

Round 2 funding will be funded from AFAANZ reserves, so access to the ARF will be open to all AFAANZ members.

To view categories, eligibility and application process please see HERE.

Closing Date: 30 September 2021

Applications are now open for our grant program, the Global Research Perspectives Program (GRPP) that is managed and sponsored by CPA Australia.

Through the Global Research Perspectives Program, CPA Australia seeks to foster bold and innovative research that addresses pressing issues and drives innovation and the application of new knowledge for the benefit of members, the profession and the global business community, governments, regulators, and international accounting and finance peak bodies. To assist researchers, CPA Australia has developed broad focus areas that are of interest to the organisation and its membership. All research applications must be aligned to one of the chosen research themes.

The 2021 research themes are:

- Impacts of technology and digital transformation on the accountancy profession
- The role of the accountancy profession in addressing the impacts of climate change and long-term sustainability
- The future of corporate reporting
- Ethics and integrity in the accountancy profession and business environment
- Hybridisation of accounting employability skills
- Tax reform.

Visit our website to find out more about the grant selection criteria, terms and conditions, and to download an Expression of Interest form.

Expression of Interest Applications close on 31 August 2021.

If you have any further enquiries, please direct them to the Research Inbox, Emily Cunningham or Luke Hansen at CPA Australia.
QUALRAN SIG
WRITING THE QUALITATIVE RESEARCH METHOD SECTION

Time and Date: 5pm (Melb time), Thursday 19 August 2021
Session length: 90 minutes (45 minute presentation and 45 minutes discussion)
Presenter: Professor Chris Chapman, University of Bristol

DETAILS
Writing the methods section of qualitative research papers can be a challenging process. Researchers are faced with the issue of how to explain their analysis in a comprehensive manner that displays the discipline and rigour their processes. However, this must be done with consideration given to the boundaries set by journals, e.g., overall word limits, thus making the research methods section a challenging section to get right. In this workshop Chris will discuss these challenges and strategies that researchers may wish to employ to communicate the skill and rigour of their qualitative research process.

The global pandemic, COVID-19, continues to have major impacts on us all, and is an international health calamity not weathered in our lived experiences. It is changing the world and the way we think and act. Australian public universities have been heavily impacted by the crisis, especially from the point of view of now seeking to manage significantly less income being earned from fee-paying onshore overseas students. The fallout across Australian public universities continues to occur, with implications for commerce disciplines and particularly the accounting discipline.

In this Webinar, our focus is placed on accounting education, particularly the state of play as of today and what lies ahead. We need your input and to help identify opportunities for the future with a clear vision of the risks that present themselves at this time.

Panellists:
- Garry Carnegie (Moderator)
- Nicola Beaton
- Corinne Cortese
- Victoria Clout
- Brendan O’Connell
- Meredith Tharapos

Registration is now open for the 2021 Center for Accounting Research and Education Conference – Accounting for Sustainability and Responsible Investing

VIRTUAL - 22 Sept 2021 & 29 Sept 2021

OVERVIEW: There is no denying the global climate is changing. 2019 was the second warmest year on record, and ended the warmest decade on record. Climate change is affecting every continent on earth, disrupting the economy and affecting lives. The Paris Agreement, adopted in 2015, aims to strengthen the ability of countries to deal with the impacts of climate change through appropriate financial flows and new technology frameworks; additionally, the UN Secretary-General has proposed six climate-positive actions for governments to take as they begin to individually and collectively begin to build back the economy post-pandemic. Companies will need to adopt long-term systemic shifts to address the changes necessary to comply with the Paris Agreement. This conference will discuss some of the changes that will be necessary to create the accounting framework for sustainability and responsible investing necessary moving forward. All details are available HERE
